The Demecratic Opposition to His Confirmation Not Thoroughly Formed.

The opposition to the confirmation of Louis McComas as a justice of the Supreme bench of the District is not as thoroughly formed as the pation of the failure of the Brussels interimpression generally exists. The democrats national monetary conference, from which sufficed to save the liquor dealers of Boston relied principally on Senator Palmer of members say they expect nothing. Each side from utter rout at the municipal elections yes-Illinois to lead the fight against Mr. McComas, is now endeavoring to learn something of the terday. The closeness of the license contest, as but up to this time he has refused to lend his hand to this plan. The intention on the part of the democrats to defeat, if possible, this combination is not based on any personal objection to Mr. McComas, but as a resentment to the treatment Adlai Stevenson received when, near the close of his administration, Mr. Cleveland nominated Mr. Stevenson for a similar position. The republicans failed to similar position. The republicans failed to act upon this nomination and thus defeated the latter's confirmation. Some and with open avowed opponents of 1890... feated the latter's confirmation. Some of the democrats say they have not forgotten this and if possible will even up old scores by defeating Mr. McComas. They had expected Mr. Palmer to lead the fight, as he expected Mr. Palmer to lead the fight, as he more radical silver legislation. In this, however, they have been disap-pointed, as the Senator from Illinois has notified his colleagues that he will not take notified his colleagues that he will not take part in this program and will not oppose Mr. McComas' confirmation.

There can be no doubt that the judiciary committee, which now has this nomination under consideration, will report it favorably. The republicans control the committee, and though the vote may be a party one Mr. McComas' name is almost certain to go to the Senate with a is almost certain to go to the Senate with a favorable recommendation. How much op-position the democrats can muster on the floor remains to be seen. They claim that the republicans are not unanimous in their sup-port of Mr. McComas. This claim, however, cannot be fully substantiated.

The statement is also made that the democratic opposition to Mr. McComas comes from his ardent advocacy of the force bill. In fact, it becomes more apparent each day that the opposition to Mr. McComas' confirmation is disintegrating and that the chances for early confirmation are more favorable.

It can be stated on the highest authority that not only do the Maryland representatives in the Senate oppose the fight being made on Mr. McComas, but they favor the confirmation. The nomination of District Attorney Cole has pacified those who are opposing Mr. McComas because he was not a resident of the District and they are now willing that Mr. McComas should be confirmed. Republicans point out that the case of Mr

Stevenson differs widely from that of Mr. McComas because Mr. Stevenson's nomination was sent with a mass of others to the Senate almost at the very end of the session. Mr. Stevenson s nomination was made February

The Republicans Will Not Give Up Control It is a settled thing that the republicans are not going to let the democrats get a majority in the Senate if it can be helped. Speaking of the no license vote in Boston the Globe (democratic) says editorially: "The rea-sons for this falling off in the license vote of lesson are not far to seek. They grow out of the bold and unscrupulous attempt made dur-ing the recent state contest to terrorize demo-eratic liquor dealers into voting for the republican candidate for governor. With Wm. E. Russell in the governor's chair there will be a most earnest and determined effort next year to remove the conditions which make the Boston police commission such a political power in this city. It is already well assured that not a few honest republicans will join heartily with the democratic legislators in the good work of abolishing a great evil and righting a notorious wrong.

The Herald (ind.) says: "This does not represent the prohibition strength, although this turned out in force. What it does represent is a widespread and intense want of confidence in the industry of the confidence in the industry of the confidence in the industry of the confidence in the confidence i the judiciousness, impartiality and non-parti-sanship of the present board of police commissioners. But, considering the matter more broadly, The announcement in The Star yesterday of there appears to be a no license wave sweeping over the state this year, and this undoubtedly the plan proposed to be sprung at the meeting of the House District committee today by the rival railroad companies to effectually sidetrack the bill giving the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company the right to enter Washington created a sensation among the friends of the bill and consternation among the business men of the city.
